WEEKLY DIGEST

The Times of Climate Change

This week's stories on climate and daily life in India

March 30 – April 4, 2026

6 stories

The Times of Climate Change March 30, 2026

Kerala elections: Campaigning in 38°C Heat (Feels Like 50°C)

Kerala's election candidates are rearranging their campaign schedule to avoid the deadly heat. 2024's national elections showed how dangerous it can get—33 poll workers died in a single day on account of heat. So why does a hot country like India keep having elections in its summer?

The Times of Climate Change March 31, 2026

Badhai Ho! A Great Indian Bustard Is Born

First GIB chick hatched in a decade is a victory for India's conservation efforts

The Times of Climate Change April 1, 2026

Galathea Bay on the Great Nicobar Island has seen record nesting of Leatherback turtles; then why are environmentalists not celebrating?

Record turtle nesting proves this bay should be protected. Yet a ₹80,000 crore mega-project got approved for 'defence priorities and economic growth'. But at what cost?

The Times of Climate Change

April 2, 2026

The King of Fruits Is in Trouble

Unseasonal rain, extreme heat, and new pests are squeezing India's mango harvests. It'll make your wallets lighter and the mango farmers' lives more precarious.

The Times of Climate Change

April 3, 2026

Why is India's weather behaving like a Rohit Shetty climax?

Hailstorms, heatwaves, unseasonal rain all at once — India's weather in March was chaos personified. April looks worse. And it's coming for your food bill and your health.

The Times of Climate Change

April 4, 2026

Meghalaya's Solar Rescue: From Candlelight deliveries to 24X7 power

Solar works because it's local and doesn't rely on massive grids. Decentralisation builds resilience. And it may be needed more than ever - even for those not living in remote hills!